Dow Jones drops 554 points, biggest point-loss in history

Monday's Dow Jones statistics

Total: 7,161.15

Change: Down 554.26

Volume: 685,500,000 shares changing hands (also a record)

Estimated total amount of money lost Monday: $660 billion

NEW YORK (Associated Press) -- In a day of worsts on Wall Street, the Dow Jones industrial average plummeted a record 554 points Monday, forcing an early halt to trading for the first time under rules adopted following the Black Monday crash of 1987.

The selloff was set off by an economic crisis in Southeast Asia and was aggravated as traders sought to preserve profits before all their gains for the year were gone.

The Dow's plunge of 554.26 to 7,161.15, surpassed the 508-point loss of Oct. 19, 1987, the previous record drop. But the 7.2 percent decline, while 12th largest ever, was not close to the 22.6 percent collapse in the '87 crash.

Broader stock market indicators also had record point losses.
